NEW DATE SET FOR BLACK HISTORY MONTH CONVOCATION ON NEW RIVER'S GREENBRIER VALLEY CAMPUS

[LEWISBURG, WV] A new date has been set for the annual Black History Month Convocation at New River Community and Technical College's Greenbrier Valley Campus. Originally scheduled for Feb. 25, the program had to be postponed because poor weather conditions did not permit the speaker, Dr. Carolyn Browning, to travel to the campus.

The convocation will be held Thursday, March 4, at 11 a.m. in Hollowell Auditorium on the first floor of Greenbrier Hall, the main office and classroom building, located at 101 Church Street in Lewisburg, WV.

A member of the New River faculty, Browning is well known in southern West Virginia and southwestern Virginia for her public speaking and as a Christian minister. "Let Me Take You There" will be the theme of her presentation, according to Wanda Johnson, program coordinator with the office of Student Services who is in charge of multicultural programs on the New River GVC.

New River's Greenbrier Valley Campus is located in Academy Park at the intersection of U.S. 60 West and Church Street in Lewisburg.
